CHEESE BOX MAKING.

AN EXTENSIVE INDUSTRY OF WHICH LITTLE IS KNOWN.

Half a Million Dollars' Worth of Cases Turned Out Yearly by Expensive Machinery—How the Logs Are Cooked and Then Cut Into Unbroken Sheets.

An idea of the magnitude of the cheese industry in this country is given by the fact that the boxes in which the cheese is shipped represent a cost of nearly $500,000 annually. It is not many years since cheese was shipped in any kind of barrel or box which would hold from one to half a dozen good sized forms, packed in straw to keep them from being bruised or broken in the handling. It was only factory made cheese that received such protection, while dairy cheese was sent to market in a state of any covering other than its own loosely banded rind, which in most cases proved invulnerable. Competition among manufacturers has changed all this, and at present the manufacture of boxes gives employment to a large number of hands and necessitates the use of powerful and expensive machinery.

It was customary in the early days of the business to saw the hoops and the large body of the box is called, out of a log in plants about one-fifth of an inch in thickness. The waste of material is a most serious objection to this plan, for 50 per cent of the timber being sawed is lost. The invention of the rotary cutting machine has prevented this waste and at the same time produced a better hoop than the sawed article. The chief timber used in making cheese boxes is the common swamp elm. No other timber seems to possess the same qualities of lightness, toughness and elasticity so requisite for cheese boxes as this once despised product of American forests. The logs, after being cut in the proper lengths, generally 5 feet for an ordinary cheese box of 15 or 16 inches diameter, are thrown into long vats filled with water, where they are boiled from 12 to 20 hours. The time required to soften the timber, or cook it, as the operation is called, varies according to the size of the timber and the season. Large logs require to be cooked longer than small ones, particularly when the logs are frozen. It is not uncommon to find the center of a log still frozen after 15 hours of boiling.

Experience is the best guide in this part of the business, and to know when the timber is thoroughly cooked and not overdone is one of the things acquired only by constant observation. When sufficiently boiled the logs are lifted in iron grapples from the vats and laid on skids, where the bark is removed. Then a log is lifted by a crane and swung into place in the machine, where it is held in a horizontal position by clamps or dogs that center it at each end.

In this position the log revolves like a roll of paper in a printing press. The knife which does the cutting is very heavy and is bolted to a heavy head called a carriage, which is fed forward by screws toward the revolving log. In the most approved machines the knife has an end or oscillating as well as a forward motion. This reduces the strain on the machine and permits the cutting of soft, unseasoned and shaggy hearted logs. As the knife comes in contact with the timber, the inequalities of the log are first shorn off and gradually the log becomes perfectly round and yields an unbroken sheet of lumber, like the unwinding of a roll of cloth. This sheet of wood is broken off in convenient lengths, which are passed under dividing knives, that cut them into uniform widths corresponding with the required depth of the box.

If the boxes are to be made up once the hoops are bent around iron cylinders to give them the form of the box, after which the bottom is pressed in and nailed in place. Complicated machinery is used in the process of the box being made. The logs are dried and shipped to the cheese houses and are packed in the boxes, where they are stored until needed. The boxes in the market are as to build for economical handling. An ordinary freight car will not contain more than 500 complete boxes, while 5,000 can be carried if shipped in the bulk.

The remnants which are not wide enough for the purpose are used for the narrow head that goes across the top of the box. The boxes vary in size, with 15 inches depth and diameter. The most common size will build a cheese of from 60 to 65 pounds. Such a box is 10 inches deep and 17 inches in diameter. This is the size of cheese most in demand for export. The size for home consumption is a little much smaller and requires a box from 5 to 6 inches deep, but of the same diameter as the other.

Various kinds of timber are used to form the heads of the box, but elm is the accepted material for the hoops. Owing to peculiarities of the soil, the timber in some localities is inclined to be shaky, the checks or shakes running around the log and following the grain of the timber. Such timber was useless when the hoops were sawed, but in the rotary process much of it can be turned to good account. The bulk of the cheese business in this business is brought in from Canada.

The western peninsula of Ontario lying north of Lake Erie contained one of the largest tracts of elm timber on the continent. It has been greatly depleted in recent years. Logs are taken out in winter when the swamps are frozen and are skidded near the railways or on the lake shore. The bulk of them are taken to the mills by water in tow of powerful steam tugs.—New York Sun.

of the physical being is the result of drawing incessantly upon the reserve capital of nerve force. The wear, tear and strain of modern life are concentrated upon the nervous system. The young men of our day become sufferers from nervous debility or exhaustion, nervous prostration or weakness. This may be the result of too much mental worry and excitement, or the result of bad practices and excesses, or pernicious habits, contracted in youth, through ignorance. They feel tremble, weak and nervous with such distressing symptoms as backache, dizziness, shooting pains in head or chest, sometimes indigestion. The middle-aged men, as well, suffer from exhaustion and loss of power, low spirits, impaired memory, and many derangements of mind and body. The abused brain is morbidly wide awake when the overworked business man attempts to find rest in bed.

The physicians and specialists of the Invalid Hotel and Surgical Institute devote their best energies to reclaiming and restoring such unfortunate to health and happiness. They have written a book of 768 pages, treating of these maladies and setting forth a rational means of home-treatment for their cure. It is sent separately sealed, in plain envelope, on receipt of 25 cents for postage.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 4, 1895.

CALIFORNIA BIMETALLIC CONVENTION.

The Executive Committee of the American Bimetallic League has issued a call for a State Convention to be held in San Francisco, Monday 19th instant. The object of the convention is to promote the interests of bimetalism in California. The call was issued by Republicans and Democrats, and people of all political creeds are invited to the convention. It is intended to awaken interest in the financial question, that California may be in line with any movement that may be made in or out of the old parties in favor of the restoration of silver. Each county in California is entitled to five delegates at large, and one for each 500 votes or fraction thereof polled in the county at the last general election. The only test required for a seat in the convention, is that the delegate be an elector of the county which he claims to represent and in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver, with equal privileges at the mints, and with equal functions as money at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for any international conference, or the concurrence of any foreign power. The delegates may be selected in such a manner as the friends of the cause may determine.

Citizens of Nevada and Oregon are invited to attend the convention, and encourage with their presence and assist with their counsel the friends of silver in the Golden State.

The committee has made arrangements with transportation companies, by which persons attending the convention can obtain reduced rates.

In an address to the people, the Executive Committee say the time for trifling has past, and the people can and will achieve a victory if they demand their rights in such a manner as to convince the political parties of the country that they are in dead earnest, and will neither follow party traditions, nor heed equivocal or uncertain promises, but insist upon candid declarations, from candid men. It is well known that the contest is one in which the masses of the people are confronted by the moneyed powers both at home and abroad. The industrial and producing classes are clamoring at the doors of Congress for relief against the unequal privileges awarded by legislation to aggregated capital by the demoralization of silver. Every effort which wealth can inspire or money secure will be arrayed against the people in this struggle, and hired orators and interested intriguers will be everywhere encountered to resist the assault or stem the tide of public opinion. Yet, notwithstanding this disparagement of wealth, we have abiding faith in the justice of our cause, and in the ultimate triumph of principles over pretense, of right over iniquity.

EXPORT BOUNTY

None of the tariff bills passed by Republicans or Democrats protect the products of the soil. Wheat, cotton, corn and other farm products comprise the greater part of the exports of the United States. They have to compete in foreign markets with the products of all other nations. As the farmer is not benefited by a high tariff, as his surplus products have to be marketed abroad, while nearly everything that he has to buy, from a plow to a reaper, is higher by reason of the tariff. David Lubin of California proposed that the Government pay an export bounty on farm products. This proposition has been discussed before the Committee of Ways and Means of the House of Representatives and an association was formed in California to further it by urging the enactment of laws providing for the payment of the bounty.

Now the Secretary of Agriculture asserts that the payment of an export bounty is impracticable and unconstitutional. The annual report of our foreign shipments for the fiscal year 1894 shows that the value of the total shipments for that year were $869,201,937. Of this amount $628,363,038 represented farm products alone, that is to say 73 per cent of our entire foreign exports were farm products. If a bounty should be paid on those products the Americans who shipped the other 27 per cent would be called on to contribute very largely from their earnings to the profits of those who shipped the 73 per cent. This would be unfair and besides an export bounty would be unconstitutional as paragraph 5, of section IX, article 1, of the Constitution explicitly declares that "no tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any State." The Constitution will therefore have to be amended before the farmer can procure a bounty on the products shipped to a foreign country, and that will require a two-thirds vote of each House of Congress and the concurrence of the legislatures of three-fourths of the States.

OHIO POPULISTS.

The Ohio Populists in State convention nominated General Jacob S. Coxey, the originator of the Industrial Army movement, for Governor. Coxeyism was in the ascendancy and the conservative Populists are displeased with the action of the convention and charge some of the leaders with selling out and playing into the hands of the gold men.

The platform indorses the Omaha platform and Coxey's non-interest bearing bonds and good roads schemes, and denounces the imprisonment of Eugene V. Debs of the American Rail way Union. Though the convention did not endorse Debs for President the mention of his name in connection with that position elicited rounds of applause.

Coxey is said to be a wealthy and law-abiding citizen, but he is suspected of having "wheels in his head." He went to Washington at the head of the brigade of the Industrial Army and demanded that Congress issue $100,000,000 non-interest bearing bonds and give work to the unemployed, and acquired much notoriety by his eccentricities. His nomination for Governor by reason of his vagaries will not strengthen the Populist cause and it is probable, as the conservative members of the party suspect, that the men who urged his nomination and indorsed his schemes were paid for their services by the gold standard ring.

THE CORN CROP.

Reports from the corn belt, which comprises the States of Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas, indicate that the corn crop this year will be the largest ever known. The estimated yield is from 2,250,000,000 to 2,500,000,000 bushels. The State of Iowa alone will produce enough corn this year to supply every person, large and small, in the United States with over five bushels.

At the present price of corn, which is 35 cents per bushel, for December delivery, the crop will be worth, if marketed, about $800,000,000. The greatest yield of corn heretofore recorded was in 1889, when 78,310,651 acres were planted and the yield 2,112,892,000 bushels.

The demand for corn for exportation to foreign countries has greatly increased in the last few years, and railroads in the West are making arrangements to handle the crop. New freight cars are being built and old ones repaired, so that the corn can be transported by the seaboard to supply the export demand.

They have just learned in San Francisco, according to the Chronicle, that in the month in which mails are weighed to ascertain the average for which the Government shall pay for four years, stacks of old public documents are sent out from Washington to help the railroads. Why, that has been done for years, as almost everybody in Nevada knows, though many wondered why they received patent office and agricultural reports at that particular time from Congressmen whom they never heard of.

DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS.

A Woman With Two Husbands.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.—The Supreme Court decided this morning that the divorce suit of Jesse Hunter of Los Angeles against Jane Milan may be tried over again. Hunter and Mrs. Milan were married in 1862. In 1884 Hunter discovered that his wife was still the wife of Joseph Milan, whom she married in 1853. At the suggestion of Milan, who was living at Walla Walla, divorce proceedings were begun which loosed the marital bonds between Milan and Hunter's wife. Then Hunter sought a divorce from his wife, who opposed the action. She claimed that her marriage to Milan had not been legally performed. She was only fifteen at the time and her parents did not give their consent. The Superior Court refused the divorce asked for by Hunter and denied the motion for a new trial. The Supreme Court holds that this decision was in error.

THE MEERS MURDERERS.

The Death Sentence Greeted With Cheers by the Audience.

CAROLTON, August 3.—After two hours and twenty minutes' deliberation, the second jury in the trial of the Taylor brothers for the murder of the Meers family, brought in a verdict of guilty in the first degree. It took but one ballot to decide the brothers were guilty of the heinous crime charged against them and that the penalty for the butchery of Meers and his wife and two children of Jackson Hill on the night of May 10th last, would be death. The courtroom was crowded and when the verdict was announced the cheering was deafening.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Robbing a Safe in a Sacramento Hotel. SACRAMENTO, August 3.—About 1 o'clock this morning George Lautenschlager was caught in the act of robbing the safe in the office of the Fifth-street Hotel, into which he had broken. The proprietor of the hotel gave him a beating with a billiard cue, and then turned him over to the police. About one month ago Lautenschlager sold out his interest in an up-town hotel, and has since been a guest in the hotel which he was caught robbing.

Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

The State Commander writes us from Lincoln, Neb., as follows: "After trying other medicines for what seemed to be a very obstinate cough in our two children we tried Dr. King's New Discovery and at the end of two days the cough entirely left them. Stevens, State Com.—Why not give this great medicine a trial, as it is guaranteed, and trial bottles are free at Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Regular size 50c, and $1.00.

Indian Agent Teter Wants an Investigation.

THE WRIGHT LAW DECISION.

A Man Suicides Because His Wife Would Not Support Him.

MRS. CORBETT GETS A DIVORCE.

The Paganist Prohibited From Marrying in New York.

NEW YORK, August 3.—Judge Gildersleeve to-day approved the referee's finding in the Corbett divorce case. This gives Mrs. Corbett an absolute decree, with the right to resume her maiden name of Ollie Lake. She is to receive $5,200 a year alimony, payable semi-annually. She may marry again, but Corbett is forbidden to do so, during the life of his wife.

Under the ruling Corbett will not be permitted to marry again within the boundaries of New York State but he may do so in any other State if he considers such a course necessary to his happiness. Should he do so and visit New York thereafter he would suffer arrest for bigamy, adultery and contempt of court.

Corbett's friends who are acquainted with his designs regarding Vera Stanhope say he will marry her despite Judge Gildersleeve's decree. There are others, however, who declare that he will never marry again. Corbett is said to be very angry with his divorced wife for suing for a divorce. After the separation he offered to give her $100 a week for life and deed a fine piece of property in New York to her. She refused the offer partly with a view of having her revenge in exposing Corbett's infidelities and partly in hope of getting more alimony. In this she was unsuccessful, although she succeeded in exposing Corbett's illicit relations with the Stanhope woman.

FOUR PLAY SUSPECTED.

The Mangled Remains of a Man Found on a Railroad.

BRADFORD, Pa., August 3.—The mangled remains of William Arnold, a big builder, were found on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad tracks yesterday at a point six miles east of this city. The body was cut in twain, and both arms were severed from the elbows. How long it had lain on the track or how many trains had passed over it cannot be determined. Arnold was unmarried and lived in the woods with a companion between Lewis Run and Davis Switch. On Saturday he was seen at Lewis Run, and had a large amount of money in his possession. The only money found on the body was $1.60 in silver and pennies. It is thought the man was robbed and murdered and the body placed on the railroad track to conceal the traces of the crime. Coroner Sherman has the case in charge, and will make a thorough investigation.

FRED J. JACKSON'S HOLE.

Agent Teter Wants an Investigation. MARKET LAKE, Idaho, August 3.—Indian Agent Teter of the Fort Hall Reservation has sent the following telegram to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

"I have returned from Jackson's Hole. Everything is quiet there. Recommend in your request that the Department of Justice investigate the killing of peaceable Indians by lawless settlers of Utah county, Wyoming, with a view of the prosecution of the guilty parties."

Regarding an interview with Senator Dubois in which he criticized Agent Teter and called him a carpetbagger, Teter said: "I don't think it very good taste for Fred Dubois to condemn a man for being a carpetbagger in the face of the fact that our Senator came here a carpetbagger, and has never been known to be anything else but a carpetbagger and office-seeker."

CHINESE OUTRAGES.

Missionaries Killed in the Interior of China.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—The State Department has received a cablegram from United States Consul Jerriegan, at Shanghai, stating that one American female missionary was wounded and four British female missionaries killed at the Mission of Kueibing. No further details are given in the dispatch. The place described is supposed to be in the Province of Huppe, far up on the banks of the Yang Tsee river, beyond the reach of men-of-war, and about 400 miles north of Cheng Tu, where the last missionary riots occurred. The State Department will take steps in the matter at once.

A Fatal Dose.

SACRAMENTO, August 3.—Willie T. Groves, a fourteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Groves, died last night from accidental poisoning. The boy had started to irrigate the garden, and took from the house an old sprinkling pot. In the pot was a bottle of strychnine, and the boy drank a quantity of it to see what it was. Two physicians were called in, but too late to save the boy's life.

A DISCOURAGED PORTUGUESE.

He Takes His Life Because His Wife Would Not Support Him.

STOCKTON, August 3.—The body of John Lorenzo, a Portuguese, was found hanging by a noose around the neck to the railroad bridge near Tracy. In letters left by Lorenzo he said he would commit suicide because his wife, a school teacher near Haywards, refused longer to support him. As he could not earn his own living, he resolved to die.

Milkmen Fight.

Petaluma, Cal., August 3.—As a result of a milk war here, two rival milkmen had an encounter this morning. In a personal fight between G. W. Starkey and L. G. Mayhew the latter was stabbed in the face, head and arms. Starkey was arrested.

The Gold Hill School Trustees have elected Miss Eva M. Carnes, who has been on the Comstock but a short time and is at present at Lake Tahoe, Assistant Principal to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Miss Holmes. There were numerous applicants for the position from old residents of Nevada. This is not very encouraging to those who attend the University Normal School to qualify themselves for teachers in the public schools.

THE GREAT CRISIS.
Senator Jones Discourses on the Situation
(Virginia Chronicle)
In a conversation with Senator Jones yesterday he declared that Lincoln foretold the exact condition that the moneyed powers would bring upon the nation, and that was because when our country was in the throes of civil war and the issue of greenbacks became a necessity to save our national life, these greenbacks were not allowed to become payable for customs dues. Had they been so allowed they would have been at par anywhere throughout the country. But this lapse allowed speculation in our currency, to the benefit of gold gamblers of New York. That was their first success, which has been followed by others, until now they rule the country.
Senator Jones said he had long wrought with the Republican party. This he had done because he believed that party would right the wrongs of silver. But when he found beyond a doubt that the gold gamblers held the reins over both parties, dictating the nominations of each, he determined to quit the Republican party.
Said Senator Jones: "I think the crisis before us is even greater than that which confronted us during our civil war. Had the South succeeded in gaining her independence, there would have been two Republics, and neither would have been dominated by the gold power, which has strangled the life out of the North and South."
Senator Jones stated further that on his recent stay in New York he met General Warner, President of the Bimetallist League, and they had addressed a note to the "Sound Currency Committee, 52 William Street," proposing a joint discussion to be held in some suitable building in that city. "What answer do you suppose we got?" asked the Senator. "Well we got nothing. The goldbugs want no discussion except what they make. Look at the pitiful arguments their papers make at all who are in favor of bimetallism."
Senator Jones said further, that he believes that if a fair vote could be taken in New York it would be cast in favor of bimetallism. "But the moneyed tyranny is there so great that a merchant in ordinary circumstances would not dare declare himself in favor of it because his credit would be ruined thereby. There are two classes of bimetallists in New York which cannot be controlled or intimidated. The first may be said to be headed by William P. St. John, who is too strong financially to be combated, and the other class is the workingmen, who have no property or credit that can be attacked."

Escape of a Convict.
The Carson Tribune of last evening says: This morning about 8 o'clock a convict named Joseph Hanna while working on the roof of the State Prison with Arnold Millard took French leave with Mr. Millard's coat and a pair of overalls belonging to a Chinaman. He was traced as far as the V. & T. section house, but there the trail was lost. Warden Henderson and his guards scoured the country in every direction. He was last seen in Charley Bralin's yard. Indian Johnny is on the track of the escape and finds the trail leading through town to the old round house. Hanna was sent from Washoe county for burglary.

The State Fair.
President Fowling is not leaving a stone unturned to make the coming fair a grand success. Attractions and new features will be arranged for this year, many of which have never been given by the Association at any previous meeting. Already communications are being received from points north and south inquiring as to accommodations and rates, and the outlook is that Reno will be thronged with visitors during the week. Everyone should assist in sending out circulars, premium lists and information and endeavor to make this the most successful fair ever held.

A Burglary.
Burglars broke into a back window of Charles Frisch's saloon yesterday morning and went through the place, opening the cash registers and taking about $7 or $8. A nickel-in-the-slot machine was taken and carried in the direction of and near the V. & T. bridge, where it was broken open, and Mr. Frisch thinks that it contained about $10. Officer Nash found the broken-up slot machine, also a few of the nickels. It is presumed that the burglars took liquors, cigars and other articles, but not in any large quantity. No arrests have been made yet.

More Land for the State.
State Land Agent C. D. Van Duzer has secured the approval of another list of land to the State. It is Eureka list 14, embracing 23,324 acres. This will add to our already large school fund. Agent Van Duzer has done more for the State in getting the Commissioners of the General Land Office to approve lands selected by the State in quick time than any Land Agent Nevada ever had at Washington. He is energetic, and will not permit the Washington officials to pigeon-hole State applications for lands.

Writ Dismissed.
In the case of the State of Nevada, ex rel. F. H. Norcross, District Attorney, vs. the Board of Commissioners of Washoe County, the Supreme Court dismissed the writ. The opinion is by Bigelow, C. J., Belknap, J., concurring, and Bonfield, J., dissenting. The decision involved the constitutionality of what is known as Senate Bill 81.

LUCY W. CENTURE.
But the back parlor of the Palace was the scene of a most interesting scene.

A lady, who had recently taken a room in a boarding house in the city, had been the only gentleman at a party given by the young women last evening. She had been the only one who had not been to church. She took them to church with her on the first Sunday morning, and in the evening they sang gospel hymns to him. He retired early that night, and the sound of their voices lulled him to sleep, but it did not seem to him that the song was exactly gospel. However, he had forgotten the occurrence by breakfast time.

The next day some marks on the door of the back parlor attracted his attention. There were just as many of them—although he did not notice that—as there were young women, varying in altitude from 4½ to 5½ feet. Over each mark was a capital letter, but it did not occur to him that these capitals were the initials of the young women. Underneath the lower line and around all of the lines except the two upper ones—which represented progress—was a smudge as if former lines had been rubbed out in order to make later and higher ones.

The ecclésiastical theologian became very curious about these marks. He asked many questions, but the young women only teased him by way of answer, exciting his curiosity and fascinating him all the more. It had seemed to him that young women of the city had more charming ways than those of the country. One of the six in particular, by name Lucy, had won his admiration. She was the demurest of all, and she it was whom he took to church alone and for whom he bought ice cream and candy wrapped up in boxes bearing gold labels. Yet even she was proof against his most subtle queries about the meaning of those marks.

What might have been the future relations between himself and Lucy if he had not returned unexpectedly one evening from prayer meeting no one can tell. The door of the back parlor was partly open, and he heard a whisper of skirts and saw near the topmost mark on the door the toe of a little boot—Lucy's boot.

His baggage was packed before he went to bed.—New York Press.

THE HONEST FINNS.
Life and Property Are Both Thoroughly Secure Among These People.

Life and property are thoroughly secure in Finland. Trunks and parcels are left for hours in the street, to be found when wanted by their rightful owners. In the country districts the houses are never harried and bolted, even in the absence of their owners. Then, again, it is no uncommon thing for a blooming girl of 17 or a young married woman to drive alone in her cart a distance of 50 or 60 miles through dense forests and by the shores of gloomy lakes, conveying the family's butter, cheese and eggs to market in town, and then to return home alone with the proceeds. In trade the Finns are not only scrupulously honest, they are heroically, quixotically so.

A tradesman will tell you the whole truth about his wares, even when he knows perfectly well that by so doing he loses a customer whom the partial truth would have secured. "This seems exactly the kind of apparatus I am looking for," I said to a merchant in Helsinki some months ago in reference to an article that cost $75, "and I will buy it at once if, knowing what I want it for, you can honestly recommend me to take it." "No, sir; I do not recommend you to take it, nor have I anything in stock just now that would suit you." And I left the shop and purchased what I wanted elsewhere.

"Here's your fare," I said to a peasant in the interior who had driven me for three hours through the woods on his donkey, handing him $1. "No, sir; that's double my fare," he replied, returning one-half the money. And when I told him I might keep it for his honesty he simply loaded his thanks, with the dignity of one of nature's gentlemen.—Scottish American.

It May Do as Much for You.
Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a Severe Kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called Kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began the use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure all Kidney and Liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50c. for large bottle. At Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

The Grandest Medicine
One of Reno's prominent ladies says: "Viavi is the grandest medicine in the world." She had treated with the best specialists in the city; also had employed local physicians, but says: "Viavi beats them all," and I quite agree with her. I will be pleased to explain the cures we make to all who call. 364 Mrs. B. E. Hunter, Viavi Co.

When baby was sick, I used it.
When she was a Child, she used it for Croup.
When she became Miss, she clung to it for Rheumatism.
When she had Children, she gave it to them for Croup.

Heart Palpitation
Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla
"I had what is called palpitation of the heart; it never left me for a moment. Sometimes I would almost fall over, and could not stay in a close room or a crowd of people. Physicians did not do me any good; in fact, I seemed to be growing worse all the time until I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was soon better, and after taking 3 bottles, I was perfectly cured. My wife is taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for rheumatism, and it is doing her more good than all other medicine she has ever taken. She has been prostrated by rheumatism frequently for seven years, and the past year has been so that she could not turn over in bed without help. Now she can get around and do her work." J. P. EVANS, Vacaville, Cal.
Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.
